WG Thompson Consultants Inc. invites you to look around our site and discover how we can help you with all your computer and networking problems. We offer more than troubleshooting and can address just about any information technology need from custom programming to e-commerce projects. We have skilled technicians that can help you plan, design and implement Information Technology solutions for your company.

"Helping business owners get more productivity out of their computer systems."

WG Thompson Consultants Inc. is geared towards assisting corporations with specific needs and resources that may not be directly available through their current staffing. We make our IT Professional skills available for specific projects at the corporation without requiring the corporation to hire additional fulltime staff.

Support and Advice for Corporations

Large businesses require the support of IT professionals but sometimes they do not have the appropriate skill set available internally. It can be cost effective to use our services to supplement or independently audit for plans, developments and decisions. Before you go out and spend that well earned money on hardware and software that you may not need, contact us so that we can help you through the process. We do not keep an inventory of hardware or software so we have no vested interest in guiding you to buy items that we have in stock.
