WG Thompson Consultants Inc. invites you to look around our site and discover how we can help you with all your computer and networking problems. We offer more than troubleshooting and can address just about any information technology need from custom programming to e-commerce projects. We have skilled technicians that can help you plan, design and implement Information Technology solutions for your company.

Support and Advice for Home Users

Many individuals purchase computers with very little computer experience or computer training. WG Thompson Consultants Inc. can help you from the start by assessing your computer needs based on your planned uses for the resources. After you purchase your computer we can then assemble it for you, connect you to the internet then give you some basic training and advice. We can also help you select software based on what you are trying to accomplish, then we can install it for you and get you up and running.

A computer is an investment that in many cases is not optimized by the owner or main users. Most people just use their computer for email and surfing the internet but there are many more software products that you can use to organize your home, your home office, your finances and investments, or your contacts. We can advise you and train you in the use of these other products.

If you are sharing a computer with your kids there are ways that you can protect your data from accidental corruption or deleting.

We offer our service in the following ways:
